SECOND SUNDAY OF EASTER — SUNDAY OF DIVINE MERCY: Poor Thomas. He misses one gathering and it turns out to be the one at which Jesus makes his first post-Resurrection appearance. When he returns, they tell him they have seen the Lord. Incredulous Thomas. This must be some crazy collective delusion. He refuses to believe Jesus is risen. Doubting Thomas. Not just a week later, but thanks to this passage from John, for all time. But doubt is just the first stop on the road to faith. All the disciples doubted at first. None of them believed until they saw him, not at the tomb, not on the road, not in the locked room. They first had to be willing to accept what they could not prove, what was still unknown. The apostles in Acts could not have known when they sold their property and possessions that it would all work out. But they were willing to believe that it would. Those who read the first letter of Peter could not know that suffering through various trails would eventually result in rejoicing with an indescribable and glorious joy. So, in the end: Blessed Thomas. He has modeled for us the first step to faith.

How do you overcome doubt and believe what you cannot see or prove?

Act of Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that you are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love you above all things and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to you. Never permit me to be separated from You. Amen
